

View your Joomla template module positions

Contributed by JoomlaThug
Monday, 06 August 2007

So you got your thugged out template, and you're feeling it, loving it, and can't stop looking at it. Good job son! Now, since this site is dedicated to non-readers I will continue with an abstraction layer of simplicity, as oppose to going into nerdy details about the possible powers of your Joomla! template.

How will content be laid out on your new template? For the most part you might be able to tell what goes "left", what goes "right, and maybe even what goes "top". But why guess? This isn't the damn lottery; this is your pride and joy web presence. Enough suspense add the following to your url in order to view the different module positions available on your new Joomla Template: `index.php?tp=1` In other words `http://yourdomain.com/index.php?tp=1`