In a nutshell: The same way you hide any other module...

WTF!?! You don't know how to hide a module? The login form (mod_login) is nothing but another built-in module. Just like the Main Menu (mod_mainmenu), the polls (mod_poll), so on and so on. All modules are managed from the Module Manager:

Click Sequence #1:
Modules -> Site Modules

Now search for the "Login Form" and unpublish it. You can do a "Select type' mod_login, or type "Login" in the "Filter" field. BAM! No more login form on the front-end. Who would want to do such a thing? Many people, said Mr. Zen. Many people....
